

NEXT STEPS

There are three guiding metaphors that best describe the vision and mission of Fellowship: we are a “greenhouse,” a “training center,” and a “launching pad.”

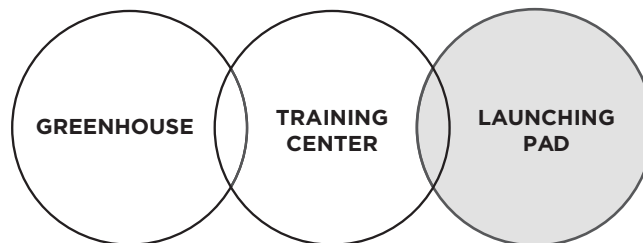

The "greenhouse" is where leaders/emerging leaders experience healing, nurturing, and growth to flourish.

The “training center” is where leaders/emerging leaders experience instruction, coaching and equipping in order to serve with great effect.

The “launching pad” is the goal where leaders are released to passionately pursue God's will for their life—to embrace a bigger mission, a higher calling, as they know and express the authentic Christ to Northwest Arkansas and the world.

As you evaluate your Leadership Lab experience, which of the three metaphors best describe where you are as a leader at Fellowship?

What are the next best steps you need to take in order to sense you are “launched,” and released to lead in NWA and the world?

“How can we continue to help?”
